HIS SHOES SQUEAKED.

The Quaint Motive That Moved the Old Dandy to Wear Them.

"I'd as lief have a dentist file away at my teeth as to walk behind a pedestrian with squeaky shoes," said a Detroit man who is well known for some of his whims. "And I may add that thereby hangs a tale. Three or four years ago I sent a pair of shoes to the cobbler to be half-soled. When they came back, they squeaked. I set them in a pan of water for an hour, but it was no good. I oiled the soles and edges, but they still squeaked. I left them out over night in the rain, but the squeak was still there. I worked at those shoes for a month and then gave them away to a dandy who was chiding around the house. He was proud of the squeak, but it grated on me till I told the fellow to clear out.

"Two weeks later," continued the nervous man, "my wife woke me up one night and said there was a man prowling around the yard. I sat up and listened, and I heard his shoes go squeak, squeak, as he moved about. It wasn't a minute before I identified the sound.

"It's dollars to cents that those are the shoes I gave away to the dandy," said I.

"The squeak is certainly the same," replied my wife.

"I raised the window and looked out, but it was too dark to see anything. I continued to hear the squeak, squeak, however, until I finally lost it in the alley. Next morning I got up to find my lawn mower and garden hose missing, and three days later the dandy was behind the bars. I told the police of the squeaky shoes, and they found the stolen goods in the fellow's house.

"Does, how did you do it?" he asked as I went down to court.

"It was those squeaky shoes," I replied. "I heard you moving about the yard."

"So?" he asked, but what a fool I was! he exclaimed. "De old woman dan told me to go barfist, but I just wanted dat squeaky noise along to make folks think dat a millionaire was comin' home late!"

—Chicago Journal.

Never Out of Fashion.

A Japanese lady gave an interesting account of the ways of her countrywomen in regard to dress.

"A European lady," said she, "may have ten or fifteen dresses in a year and cast them aside when done with. In Japan a lady will have but very few in a year, but she keeps them all, so that at the end of her life she may have sixty or seventy, all carefully preserved and fit to wear again, and these go to her daughters.

"They need very little alteration, for fashions in Japan change but slightly, and dresses that descend like this as heirlooms are valued far more than new ones.

"Japanese ladies look upon their dresses much as European ladies regard their old china and costly furniture. Many of the most beautiful Japanese dresses are very old, but they look new and are never out of fashion."

"Fathers" of the Republic.

George Washington was but forty-three when he took command of the Continental army in 1775.

Alexander Hamilton was only thirty-two when he became the first United States secretary of state in 1789. He had signed the constitution at thirty and had been a captain in the Continental army at nineteen. James Madison was but thirty-six when he became the "father" of our constitution at the convention of 1787. Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence shortly after his thirty-third birthday. When he attended the ratifying convention in 1788, James Monroe was but thirty years of age. At thirty-two he was United States senator, at thirty-six United States envoy to France and at forty-one governor of Virginia.

The Color of the Sky.

The blue color of the sky is merely the color of the air seen through a length of about forty-five miles. It has been observed by those who have ascended about five miles above the earth's surface that the sky appears of a dark ink hue owing to the very small reflection and dispersion of the light, while the blue color no longer appears above but below them. Similarly the blue color of distant hills is owing to the same cause.

A Weather Prophet.

A cup of hot coffee, it is said, can be used as a barometer. Allow a lump of sugar to drop to the bottom of the cup. If the air bubbles that arise collect in the middle of the surface, it means clear weather. If they hug the cup, forming a more or less complete ring, the indications are rain or snow, and if they separate, taking no definite position, changeable weather can be looked for.

THREEFOLD LIGHTNING.

An Ancient Belief Coupled With Modern Scientific Discoveries.

The Etruscans of old believed in three kinds of lightning—one incapable of doing any injury, another more mischievous in its character and consequently only to be issued with the consent of a quorum of twelve gods, and a third carrying mischief in its train and for which a regular decree was required from the higher divinities in the Etruscan skies. Curiously enough, modern scientists, following the lead taken by Arago, have also decreed that the varieties of lightning are threefold. The first comprehend that in which the discharge appears like a long luminous line, bent into angles and zigzags and varying in complexion from white to blue, purple or red. This kind is known as forked lightning, because it sometimes divides into two or more branches before reaching the earth.

The second differs from the first in the range of surface over which the flash is diffused. From this circumstance the discharge is designated sheet lightning, and if any real parallel can be instituted between the Etruscan and modern varieties this may be said to correspond with the innocuous lightning which any single god of Etruria could launch at his pleasure.

The third class are not only remarkable for their eccentricities, but they have been made the subject of considerable contention. They differ so widely from the more ordinary manifestations that many meteorologists have denied their right to be treated as legitimate lightnings. They neither assume the form of long lines on the one hand nor of sheets of flames on the other, but exhibit themselves as balls or globular lumps of fire.—Chambers' Journal.

Ancient Foot Coverings.

If we are to judge of the foot coverings handed down to us as relics from the courts of France, Spain, England and Germany, we can but conclude that for an extremely long period of time, probably eight or ten centuries, the dressing of the human foot has been, even in the so-called civilized countries, but slightly different and only in degree from the customs of the followers of Confucius for thousands of years.

Fortunately for art, unfortunately for the history of civilization, so called, the artist of olden as well as modern times has not copied except in portraiture the cramped foot, the narrow toe, the elevated heel and the pinched instep, which have long accompanied the human foot. It seems reasonable to suppose, however, that the Roman artist and critic and the Grecian as well fully attempted to give us the perfect foot as found in the well developed Grecian woman of the day.

The sandals worn at the time when Rome was in her splendor were undoubtedly so constructed as to afford ample opportunity for the development of the foot and exhibit the beauty of its conformation.

Moral Effect of Diets.

An exclusively pork diet tends infallibly to pessimism. Beef, if persevered in for months, makes a man strong, energetic and audacious, says Pearson's Weekly. A mutton diet continued for any length of time tends to melancholia, while veal caters gradually lose energy and gaiety. The free use of eggs and milk tends to make women healthy and vivacious. Butter used in excess renders its users phlegmatic and lazy. Apples are excellent for brain workers, and everybody who has much intellectual work to do should eat them freely. Potatoes, on the contrary, render one dull, irritable and lazy when eaten constantly and in excess. To preserve the memory even to an advanced age nothing is better than mustard.

Great Men Who Dined.

The ancients regarded dancing as a necessary accomplishment. Socrates learned the art in his old age, while Plato in his "Commonwealth" advocated the establishment of dancing schools. The Romans celebrated their victories and pastoral festivals by elaborate dances. They excelled in pantomime dances, from which the ballet was evolved. The Emperor Domitian forbade the senators to dance and for so doing removed several members from the senate. Grave statesmen and politicians of high degree have excelled in the oldest of the arts.

Queer Inventions.

In 1854 a patent was granted in France on a combination opera hat and bandbox, and during the same year a mouth glue was invented for artistic purposes, such as sticking on photographs, negatives and for use on envelopes and postage stamps. The ingredients of the gum were cow's heel for adhesiveness and extract of vanilla, by which to avoid offense to the taste.

TAKING THE MUSKELLUNGE.

The Proper Method of Trailing For This Water Wolf.

In trailing for lunge the old fashioned hand line and spoon hook may be depended upon, but the method lacks the science which the use of a trailing rod demands. I have done a lot of it, and I prefer to do it alone and do my own paddling or rowing. A turn of the line around the thigh enables you to feel all attacks on the lure, while leaving both hands for the paddle or oars, and at the same time the line is where your hand can find it without loss of time. This is important, for the resistance of a heavy fish, aided by the forward motion of the craft, will taunt a line to the danger point before you have time for many motions of your hand.

When paddling, I make fast the paddle by a short cord, so it can safely be dropped at any point of the stroke. When once fast to a good fish, I seldom bother about the paddle for turning, as there is a way of swinging a light craft head on to a taut line which is understood by all familiar with canoes and skiffs. An old pair of gloves is no bad protection, for a line sometimes cuts bare hands.

A small fellow may be unceremoniously hauled in hand over hand; a big one must be lured. I believe in keeping at a fish all the time, taking no too pronounced liberties and allowing him none. So long as a firm, even hold is maintained on him he is doomed if the hooks are planted where they should be. Anything like jerking should not be allowed at either end of the string, for one stiff jerk may play havoc. Only overexcitement or rotten tackle is responsible for the loss of a well hooked fish.—Edwyn Sandys in Outing.

Pin Money.

Among the presents formerly offered as New Year's gifts were pins, which were first made in the early part of the sixteenth century. However trifling such gifts might now appear, it was then highly valued, as previous to the invention of pins clumsy wooden skewers were in use for fastening garments. In this manner arose the term "pin money" in marriage settlements, the bride stipulating for or the groom voluntarily conceding a certain annual allowance with which to purchase what was then deemed a luxury.

In time the term came to be applied in the more extended sense to signify any sum over which the wife shall have absolute control, independent of her husband. Though no longer used in legal instruments, the term is still retained colloquially as denoting a stipulated sum for the wife's private use.

"Restraining the Beard by Law.

In the reign of "good Queen Bess" an attempt was made by some of the heads of Lincoln's Inn to restrain the growth of the legal beard. It was resolved that "no fellow of that house should wear a beard of above a fortnight's growth," which no fellow was likely to do if he consulted his own comfort. Although, as we read in the "Perey Anecdotes," transgressions of this resolution were punished with fine, loss of commons and final expulsion, such was the vigorous resistance to the tyrannical order that in the following year all previous orders respecting beards were repealed.—English Magazine.

THE FARMER FAILS

In health just as does the city-man, and he fails commonly from the same cause, "stomach trouble." The farm is a wholesome place to live; the farmer's life is a healthy life; but no external advantages can overcome the effects of a diseased stomach. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the food eaten is imperfectly digested and assimilated, and the consequent loss of nutrition results in physical debility.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle. "I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to one hundred and twenty-five pounds and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly one hundred and sixty and can do a day's work on the farm. I can recommend your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains, you lose, therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

A Noted Architect

H. L. Duhring of Philadelphia, the noted architect, whose plans for rebuilding the Campanile of St. Mark's, Venice, have been accepted by the Italian Government, is a cousin of Fred T. Duhring of this place.

Architect Duhring, who had just graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, while traveling through Italy in 1898 studying the architecture of that country, received permission from that government to make a set of plans of the Campanile.

The Campanile was a tower 322 feet high. The base was constructed of marble and the upper portion of red brick, with a marble top. It was founded 388 years after the birth of Christ and restored in 1329.

This famous tower which had withstood the destructive forces of the elements for over one thousand five hundred years, suddenly collapsed a few months ago. It was at once decided to restore the historical structure. In looking around for plans the Italian Government discovered that architect Duhring was the only man in the world who possessed complete plans of the ancient tower.

It is estimated that it will cost half a million dollars to restore the Campanile.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs.

They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I had pains in my back, could not sleep and when I got up in the morning felt worse than the night before. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and now I can sleep and get up feeling rested and able to do my work. I attribute my cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. J. N. PERRY, care H. S. Copeland, Pike Road, Ala.

CALIFORNIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.

A Thorough and Progressive Institution.

In a recent interview with Professor R. L. Durham, President of the California Business College of San Francisco, he said in speaking of the advantages of a business education and of the aims of their institution in preparing young people to earn a livelihood in this competitive age: "Practical education is the watchword of the hour. This is an age of business and the people in general are beginning to realize it. There are more young people in the business colleges of California today than ever before, and their numbers are greatly on the increase."

California Business College is earnestly striving to meet the demands of the time by putting brains, experience and a high order of teaching ability and enthusiastic, conscientious service into the class room. We are fitting young men and young women with a valuable practical training so that they can enter any office as stenographer or bookkeeper, or assistant in the counting house, and render acceptable service to their employers.

"We not only give our young people this most thorough business training but we are putting them into business as well. The records of our 'Position Department' show that we are not able to fill over sixty per cent of the 'Applications for Graduates' received from business men. If the young people of California understood as we do the possibilities before them in the business world, and could understand the crying demand of business men for properly trained help, the business colleges could not begin to accommodate all those that would apply for admission."

This most excellent college is located at 305 Larkin st., San Francisco, and all young people interested in a business education should write to Professor Durham for an illustrated catalogue.

TWO SUMMERS.

Summer at the Shore and Summer in the Store.

It is sometimes remarked that the requirements of society entail as much hard work upon a woman as she would perform in office or in store. That may be true. The woman who dances the night through may travel more miles than are walked by the woman behind the counter. Her social obligations may be as exacting as business duties. But if the society woman dances all night, she can sleep all day. If her calls must be daily paid, she has her carriage in which to drive. She is not at the mercy of an alarm clock in the morning, or of store routine during the day. And, above all, after the round of winter gaieties, there is the sea shore for the summer, with its freedom and its health giving ocean breezes. The chances of health are all in favor of the girl that goes to the shore and all against the girl that stays in the store.

SUMMER IN THE CITY is unendurable, says society with its luxuries and surroundings. What must summer in a city store be? At the best it is trying to nerves and temper. The long, languid days, the oppressive atmosphere, the monotonous round of duties are all trying. And when to this is added womanly weakness, the condition is well-nigh unbearable. And yet it must be borne for money must be earned if life is to be sustained.

Every working woman owes it to herself to bring her physical health to the highest standard of excellence—not only because it increases her happiness, but also because it increases her earning capacity. It is a cruel fact that the floor walker has, as a rule, no sympathy with the backache and weakness which impel a woman to seek an occasional moment's rest for her aching back, if only by leaning rigidly against the shelves behind her.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. Hundreds of thousands of women have testified to this fact.

"I write a few lines to thank you for your advice and grand remedies, to which I owe my health, and perhaps my life," says Miss Flora I. Greer, of 107 Howe Street, Akron, Ohio. "My troubles started during my childhood but did not prove serious until 1893, when I met with an accident caused by a horse running away. From that time I did not see a well day. I suffered at every monthly period with terrible headache, irritation of the spine and pains in my heels so I could not bear them resting on the soft pillow. What I suffered from could never describe. I had soreness through my hips and ovaries all the time and constant backache. Was afraid to be alone, imagined that everyone hated me, and everything looked like a mountain. One doctor would tell me one thing and another would say something altogether different, but they only relieved me."

Then wrote to you in April, 1899, through

Handel's Appetite. George Frederick Handel, who was a composer at the age of nine and had written three operas before he was fifteen, was a man of uncommonly large appetite, and it is told of him that whenever he stopped at an inn or elsewhere where the host was not familiar with the greatness of his hunger he would order dinner for three.

Upon one occasion he gave his order for three as usual, and when the hour for dinner arrived he called to his host:

"Ees de tinner retty?" "It will be served, sir, immediately upon the arrival of your company," was the response.

"Ach," said Handel, with a laugh, "den you may bring it up right away. I am de gompany."

Its Mysterious Charm. Madge, having learned to make several characters in writing, although utterly unable to spell a word without having it given her letter by letter, one evening handed her father a slip of paper upon which, so she gravely informed him, she had written a joke.

"H-m-m," said the father, inspecting the jumble of letters, "this, my dear, doesn't spell anything."

"I know it," chuckled the little girl. "It's what it doesn't spell that's the joke, papa! And," cocking her head wisely, "maybe it's a really funny one, who knows?"—New York Press.

The Rattlesnake. For some cause no rattlesnake will cross a hair rope. When a camping party is in a region infested with these vermin, all that is necessary to protect the camp at night is to lay a hair lariat on the ground around the camp in such a way that no snake can approach the camp from any quarter without crossing the rope, and the campers are perfectly secure from intrusion. Why it is not human being can explain, but that it is so has been too often proved to be doubted.

the advice of a neighbor, and followed your advice from April to July. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five vials of 'Pelllets.' Have not had a single symptom of my old trouble so far. Can sleep good nights, work hard, and can eat solid and substantial food without distress. There are several of my friends taking your medicines with the best results since they have seen how they helped me."

WORK IS PLEASURE when you are well and strong, you then go to work with the joy of doing. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make you strong and well if your ailments are within the compass of medicine to cure. It establishes regularity, dries the drains that weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures headache, backache, dizziness and other consequences of womanly ills. It promotes the appetite, soothes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"I feel it a duty to inform you that I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1861 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. "I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine for this or that complaint as my troubles became unbearable. In the spring of 1897 my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and then I did not take any more for several weeks as I felt so much better, but still I was not completely cured. I commenced taking it again and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained about ten pounds in weight and one thousand pounds of comfort, for I am a new woman once more and your advice is a pure vegetable preparation, and is cause of it, coupled with the 'Pleasant Pellets,' which are not to be dispensed with. I took eight bottles of the 'Prescription' the last time, making fourteen in all, and will not take any more unless you so advise, for I do not see as I need it."

"I have told my friends how I was cured, and have been no little surprised to learn how many of them used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with great benefit. I have induced several to try and have heard that they were much pleased with results."

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no alcohol in 'Favorite Prescription,' and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. It is a pure vegetable preparation, and cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

'Favorite Prescription' has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

WOMEN WHO WORK will appreciate Dr. Pierce's gift of his medical book, 'The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser.' It contains over a thousand large pages, and is full of helpful hints and information on topics of vital interest to every woman. Send 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

BURGLARY AT CALIENTE

The Haven Summer Residence Looted by Midnight Thieves.

The summer residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Haven, facing the county road near Agua Caliente, was entered by midnight thieves, on or about the 19th inst., who looted the house from cellar to garret.

The family were absent at their home in Oakland at the time of the commission of the robbery and the burglars plundered the residence at their leisure. Silverware, table linen and many other household articles were carried off by the thieves, presumably in a spring wagon.

Mr. Haven has offered a reward of $25 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the thieves, and they will no doubt be brought to justice as they must have passed some one on the road and been recognized while making off with the stolen property, as it is not thought the thieves are strangers in this valley.

This is the third time the Haven residence has been robbed within the past few years.

REMARKABLE SURGERY.

E. Forni of Vineburg Back Home Again.

About two months ago E. Forni of Vineburg was suddenly attacked with hemorrhage of the bladder. Having no other conveyance at hand he rode into town, a distance of several miles, on his bicycle and when he reached the doctor's office he was all but speechless. This was after midnight. Several hours later he was carried to the early morning train of the California Northwestern and taken to San Francisco to be operated upon in one of the hospitals of that city. The surgeons declared, when he was placed upon the operating table, which was immediately after the patient's arrival at the hospital, that had he arrived an hour later he would have been a dead man.

The surgeons then set to work to save Forni's life. An incision was made over the bladder, which was tapped and a large quantity of blood removed. The patient was then nursed back to life and prepared for another operation, which took place two or three weeks later. This operation necessitated the removal and replacing of the bladder after it had been thoroughly cleaned of all impurities. For several weeks after this latter operation Forni lay on his back more dead than alive. Finally nature came to the assistance of the surgeons and two weeks ago Forni was discharged from the hospital as cured. He was in town last Saturday for the first time since his illness and although still weak from the effects of the hemorrhage and the operation which followed is out of danger and in a short time will be fully restored to his former good health.

Who will not say that modern surgery is not developing into a science? A similar case twenty-five years ago would have meant sure death to the patient.

LOUIS FOUTS RECEIVES HIS SENTENCE.

Sequestered for Ten Years

Inside the Four Walls of San Quentin.

Louis Fouts of this place, convicted in the Superior Court of this county on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, was sentenced by Judge Burnett last Monday. He will be imprisoned inside the four walls of San Quentin for ten years.

The downfall of this young man ought to act as a warning to our boys to beware of evil associates and lead an exemplary life. As a small lad Louis Fouts was like other boys and gave promise of becoming a useful member of society. Evil companions and the liquor habit in time, however, conquered what was good in his nature and he fell from grace a number of years ago.

The crime committed by young Fouts and for which society and the law has demanded that he be deprived of his liberty for a long series of years was the cutting of Nick Carrillo in this town a couple of months ago.

Glen Ellen

From Chapin's

T. J. Conners of Sonoma spent Sunday in this place.

Ex Postmaster Browne of Kenwood visited our burg Monday.

J. G. Cromwell of Graham Canyon shipped a number of fine, fat turkeys Monday to San Francisco and Oakland.

S. T. Dodson, an optician from San Francisco, was in town the early part of the week and registered at the Riverside.

Mr. J. C. McCartney, who formerly owned Burns Villa, is up here now visiting his homestead to see how much of it is left after the late forest fire, caused by the sparks from a passing freight engine.

Mrs. Skahan, the wide-awake proprietor of our new grocery store, shipped the early part of the week something less than a carload of turkeys to her San Francisco store.

There seems to be a dearth of stove wood in Glen Ellen, but the woodchoppers have come to the rescue. A small army of them are now scattered over the adjacent hills endeavoring to supply the demand, but of dry stove wood there seems to be none.

There are two interesting arrivals from the snow belt. Leo Justi, our enterprising rancher, has just imported from Ohio at great expense two very fine thoroughbred pigs of the O. I. C. breed. The porkers traveled first class and show a thorough appreciation of their change of climate and conditions.

One of the finest homes in our valley is that of Frank Lemoine. He formerly did business in San Francisco but tiring of the city he began to look around for a country home and found no more desirable place to settle in than Sonoma Valley. He selected a spot under the shadow of the Sonoma range of mountains—just virgin soil with plenty of fine oak trees scattered around. This desert under his hands has become an oasis. His mansion is large and commodious with all the modern conveniences and luxuries and is elegantly furnished. Mr. Lemoine has a large vineyard and one of the finest wine cellars in the valley. Two years ago he had the misfortune to lose his winery by fire. It was burned to the ground, destroying a large quantity of the finest wines—nothing was saved. But with indomitable courage and energy he rebuilt at once, and his winery is now in full operation, giving employment to a small army of men. Life can not be anything but a grand holiday to him with his charming wife and lovely children. Mr. Lemoine is an enterprising man, genial, hospitable and a great acquisition to our valley.

"Here sits peace, and rest sits here." Perched on the hillside is a dear little dove-cote, surrounded by grand old hills and oak and manzanita trees. No matter what road you are traveling on or in what direction you are going you have only to cast your eyes to the eastern slope of the Napu mountains and there it stands in bold relief. This is the home of A. C. Woods and his pet sister. Not a finer view of our lovely valley can be obtained from any other point. When standing on their front porch you can see for miles up and down the valley and over to the western coast range opposite. Mr. Woods is a man of education and leisure. He has given us several admirable essays on bee culture. He has quite a number of hives of bees which he keeps for amusement and experimenting.

Miss Emma, his sister, is a happy, light hearted young lady and a great worker in the Congregational Church, of which she is a member. She is the leading spirit of all benedictions, socials, etc., given by the church, which would not be complete without her presence.

CHAPIN'S. Glen Ellen, November 27, 1902.

New County Clerk

The Supervisors have appointed Major L. W. Juilliard of Santa Rosa County Clerk, vice Somers B. Fulton, deceased. No better appointment for the position could have been made. Mr. Juilliard has had years of experience in the County Clerk's office, having held the office down two terms and served as chief deputy under Mr. Wines for two years.

Mr. Juilliard will hold the position until January 5th next, when he will turn the office over to Fred L. Wright, County Clerk elect, who by the way was also offered the appointment by the Supervisors but declined in Mr. Juilliard's favor, as he desired to serve out his term of office as County Auditor and Recorder.

COUNTY CLERK FULTON

IS DEAD.

Passed Away at an Early Hour Tuesday Morning.

"Death thou art cruel." You have claimed Somers B. Fulton at the age of only 33 years. His was an attenuated, misshapen body but it contained as big a heart as ever throbbed within the tenement of man. Friends, many warm and dear friends, in every part of the county, will sincerely grieve at the passing of this staunch, true and noble man and brother.

A cripple from infancy, caused by an aggravated attack of whooping cough which brought on curvature of the spine and stunted his physical growth, he possessed a remarkable bright and active mind and genial personality that made him a man among men.

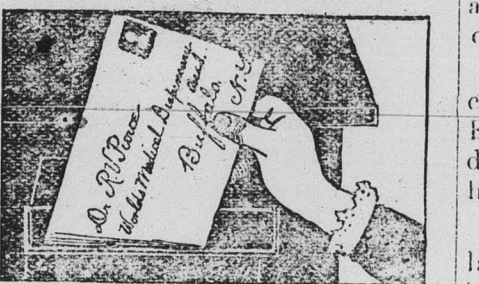

Eight years ago this month Somers B. Fulton was elected County Clerk of this county, defeating W. E. Wines, one of the most popular Democrats in old Sonoma. Four years later he was re-elected over August Domine by nearly 500 majority. Mr. Fulton was the soul of generosity and when he entered politics eight years ago was accounted a wealthy young man, but he died comparatively poor.

He was prominent in fraternal circles, being a Mason, an Elk, a Native Son and Knight of Pythias. He was born in Visalia, Tulare county, thirty eight years ago but spent most of his life in the town of Fulton, this county, which was founded by his father.

The deceased, frail in body, had been in poor health for several years and his death was not unexpected by his intimate friends. An aged father and brother, both residing in Southern California, are the relatives who survive him.

Kind friend! requiescat in pace.

A Letter to Dr. Pierce is the First Step to Health for Weak and Sick Women.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, and under seal of the strictest privacy. In a little over thirty years of practice as chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured over half a million women. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Offers of "free medical advice" made in imitation of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, are advertised by persons who are not physicians, and are not qualified to give medical advice. Every woman should consult her own safety by careful inquiry into the genuineness of such offers.

There is no offer similar to Dr. Pierce's, which has behind it an institution of national note, such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., with its staff of nearly a score of physicians, presided over by a specialist of Dr. Pierce's experience and success, in the treatment and cure of diseases peculiar to women.

How Other Women Have Been Cured.

"I suffered untold misery for many years with uterine trouble," writes Mrs. Mary E. Wilcox, of Enos (Rainy River), Algoma Co., Ont., "until I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's good medicine and used the local treatment as advised. I took two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and was cured. I have felt better in these past seven months than I have for years. Every month I used to have to go to bed and have hot poultices and take laudanum to ease the pain. I don't go to bed now nor do I take laudanum."

"I have used your medicine as you directed," writes Mrs. Caroline Hammack, of Hammack, Beaumont Co., Ala. "I have only used one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in connection I used one bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Six doses a day, three of each, and sometimes I used the tablets as you directed. I feel well. I am hard at work and have been for some time. I had been under a good doctor five years for this same disease and you see how quick your medicine cured me."

"About a year ago I had a mishap which left me in very poor health for some time afterward," writes Mrs. Cene Johnson, of Gordon, Sheridan Co., Neb. "I employed a local doctor but got only temporary relief, until I commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicine, which I did after consulting you. I am now as well as ever. I took five bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I would recommend these medicines to all who suffer as I did."

If you are sick or ailing take advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter and write today to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Goess-Schwarz.

The marriage of Fred. H. Goess of this place and Miss Nellie Schwarz of San Francisco was solemnized Sunday evening in the Congregational Church in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Kirtland. After the impressive services, congratulations were liberally bestowed upon the young couple.

The bride wore a pretty lavender crepe de chine, lace trimmed, and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. Miss Hazel Goess, a sister of the groom, attended the bride, while Walter Slessinger of San Francisco was best man.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the groom, where a fine dinner awaited them. After dinner a reception was held at which a few of the intimate friends of the contracting parties were received.
